REPUBLICAN ADDRESS.

The Gazette prints to-day the address of the republican county committee which we hope will be carefully read. There are some points made by the committee which the voters of Rock county, and more especially the republicans, should clearly understand, and we therefore urge them to take the necessary time to give the address a thoughtful reading. Don't "run it over," as the saying is when one does rapid reading, but devote sufficient time to reading as to give you a clear idea of its contents. When you have read it, hand a copy to your next door neighbor, if he hasn't one, and persuade him to spend an evening in reading it. It is a good address, and merits a wide circulation.

The electric wires came in contact with the cornice of Sater Brothers' clothing house, St. Paul, and caused a loss of $30,000.

The prohibition meeting at the opera house last night, brought out in stronger light than ever the fact that the prohibitionists and the democrats have one common aim—the defeat of the republican party.

Here is a significant item: A few years ago government envelopes sold for $4.30 per 1000 exclusive of postage. Now they are only $2, and after Jan. 1 will be reduced to $1.80. Besides they are of better quality.

The Rev. McLean, of Beloit, said in his speech last night that there were 100,000 persons confined in the penitentiaries in the United States. If Mr. McLean had been better acquainted with social statistics, he wouldn't have made that statement.

The independent party will go out of business on the 7th of November. The assets will be some old speeches, a lot of undistributed "Independents" sheets, a few one-cent stamps, and one copy of McPherson's handbook of politics. The liabilities will consist of 2,000 or 3,000 majority against them. No dividends will be declared on this investment.

The Flower of the New York delegation in congress will not accept a renomination. He is the richest man in the house, and during his one term gave so many public dinners that every member of congress was able to sit at his tables. He has got through feasting congressmen and now wants to stay at home.

Well put by the Milwaukee Sentinel: The democrats over in Rock are hot after Mr. Williams because he voted to pay what they call the "Yorktown whisky bill." They think he should have done as the Rock county democrats have always done—told the barkeeper to "put it on the state." Nothing is more calculated to arouse the democratic fear than the inauguration of the practice of paying bills.

There is going to be a big surprise after the election to the democracy. They are figuring on paper either a defeat or a close shave for Mr. Williams. But speculations with a pencil will not count in this campaign. Votes tell the true story, and votes will win. The people are not yet ready to turn the tide in this district in favor of the democratic party. The time has not come, and it will not soon come, when the triumphs of former years will be turned to defeat. The great mass of the intelligent voters will cast their ballots for the republican ticket because that is the surest way to protect the best interests of the government. The democrats can take all the comfort they can find in working out a victory for themselves on paper, but the ballot box will knock to tatters all such speculations, and will bring a chilling rebuke to the ill-timed presumption of the so-called independents.

VOTE FOR DR. LORD.

The republicans of Rock county should bear in mind that the state senator elected this fall will be called upon to vote for a United States senator to succeed the Hon. Angus Cameron whose term will expire on the 4th of March, 1885. As a political reason, this is one of the strongest that can be named why Dr. Lord should be elected to the state senate. Under any event the United States senate will be close, and now is the time to begin work to make it republican. There should be the utmost diligence used in securing the election of republican state senators and members of the assembly, and the republicans of Rock county should begin that diligence now that not one inch of ground may be lost, either in the county, the state, or the nation.

Aside from these important grounds upon which Dr. Lord should be elected, there is still another. He is a gentleman in every way fit for the position and worthy of the support of every republican. He will make an excellent senator for the reason that he is thoroughly informed on all the political questions of the day, on all matters pertaining to the affairs of the state, and with the rules and practice of legislative bodies. He has also that personal influence and high social qualities that will make for him a prominent position in the senate.

Let the republicans give him the heartiest support and secure his election by one of the old-time republican majorities.

LET REPUBLICANS TAKE HEED.

The republicans of Rock county are confronted with a movement by the democracy under the disguise of an "independent" party, to carry the county and the first congressional district for regular democratic candidates. It will be plainly seen by the intelligent voter that it is not an honest movement for reform but that it is simply a pretext by which the democratic party hopes to win success. Year after year that party has been beaten both in the county and in the district by overwhelming majorities because the people had no faith in democratic promises and no decent regard for the democratic record. That party has not changed its purposes. It is the same party, with the same leaders, the same aim, and the identical motives as in years gone by. Pretences do not count in this campaign. The people demand living issues, solid principles, stalwart ideas in regard to all national questions, and a record that cannot be impeached. The democratic party has none of these. In every movement that has been made in this country to better the condition of the people, to give them a currency as solid as the government itself, to protect the industries of the country that the working people may receive the highest possible wages, and the farmer the best prices for his produce, the republican party has taken the lead, while the democratic party, the same one that is vaunting its pretensions in this district to-day, has constantly hurled its opposition to all these movements. A party must be judged by what it has done and what it is still doing as a national party and not by its present pretensions.

The Gazette appeals to the judgment of republican voters, and not to their passions, and urges them to stand by the old party that has done so much for the prosperity of the country and their homes. The Gazette urges the republicans to stand by the unchangeable principles of the party, and to work that its victories may be as substantial and honorable as in the years of its greatest prosperity. The brightest things in the life of a party are living principles, a clear record and success. As a political organization the republican party has these, and every republican in Rock county should see that these are upheld so that republican principles may remain dominant in the county, state, and nation.

The Result of Perseverance.

A representative of The Times-Democrat was present at the office of the Louisiana State Lottery Company when Mr. D. P. Blair of Columbus, Miss., received a check for $15,000 as the lucky holder of one-fifth of the capital prize of $75,000 on ticket No. 43,101, and asked: "Did you not feel elated when favored by fortune?" "No, not at all. I had an idea I would win. I had been taking tickets—well, now it must be for nearly two years, and I was biding my time, for I felt my turn would come soon. I never hurried the Lottery Company. I waited, taking my tickets regularly every month, and now I've hit them." "What do you intend doing with the money?" "Well, the night I believed I had won, I mentally distributed it. I have children, and I propose to invest a portion of the money for them. The plans I made on that night I intend carrying out. I felt on that occasion by intuition, it would almost seem, that I had won. The feeling, of course, is impossible to describe. Thus he bided his time. The next drawing will occur November 14th, and any information thereof can be had on application to M. A. Daulin, New Orleans, La.—N. O. Times-Democrat, September 18.

PARLIAMENT.

Questions Presented on the Re-assembling of the English Parliament.

The Conduct of the Egyptian War and the Sentence of Dwyer Gray Brought Up.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Parliament reassembled yesterday. Previous to the assembling of the commons the advanced Irish members held a meeting. They were chiefly occupied in arranging petitions referring to the imprisonment of E. Dwyer Gray. Lord Mayor Dawson of Dublin, has 100 petitions to present in the house. In the commons Lord Randolph Churchill, Conservative, condemned the present sitting was irregular. After the appropriation bill had received the royal assent, he moved an adjournment of the house in order to protest against the autumn session.

Churchill made a long historical review. He pointed out ancient Irish cloistered monks, Tories, that the commons had ever been jealous against monarchical or ministerial tyranny. Gladstone said he was glad to see Lord Randolph in the house again. He contended the precedents quoted by Churchill were inapplicable. The house, he said, had no power to take any action upon the question of Gray's imprisonment. Churchill had sought the government would be upset by a vote of want of confidence in the commons. He proposed the house adjourn until November 15.

The Irish parliamentary party, after a conference, have decided to insist that inquiry be made upon the question of Gray's imprisonment, with a view of restricting the judge's action in the matter. Mr. Powers will in addition to this request the dissolution of the present workings of the land act.

Lord Randolph Churchill, in opening the business of parliament to-day, moved an imputation of adjournment, as a protest against the unconstitutional method pursued in the assembling of that body.

Gladstone effected the precedent of 1830, when the house adjourned in July and August, and transacted business of various kinds. This, he said, Lord Randolph Churchill's assertion was entirely destroyed. Gladstone said he was glad to see Lord Randolph in the house again. He contended the precedents quoted by Churchill were inapplicable. The house, he said, had no power to take any action upon the question of Gray's imprisonment. Churchill had sought the government would be upset by a vote of want of confidence in the commons. He proposed the house adjourn until November 15.

A motion for granting leave should be put forth with no more than forty members supporting it by rising in their places. Gladstone gave notice of a further addition to the rules according to which motions to bring in bills, and to amend bills, should be made by the members of the commons.

Northcote commenced Churchill's action. He asked Gladstone whether he would adhere to the financial view of the situation or make a statement in reference to the war. After remarks by Harcourt, the house secretary, and Wolff, conservative, the house divided on the motion of adjournment. Churchill and Gladstone were the only members who voted against the adjournment.

Gladstone then gave a resolution giving precedence to rules of procedure whenever put down. Northcote expressed regret at this statement in reference to the adjournment. Walter Hume, Conservative, declared he would oppose adjournment by all the means at his disposal. He called upon the commons to do the same. Ashmead Bartlett, Conservative, made a similar declaration. The house divided and Gladstone's motion for adjournment carried by 147 to 47.

Gladstone called attention to the committee of E. Dwyer Gray. He said he was glad to see Gray present in the house. The precedents, Gladstone pointed out, were completely in favor of the appointment of the committee in Gray's case, and he moved the appointment of such a committee. The government, he announced, completely withdrew its support from a session a measure dealing with criminals for contempt. Parnell asked Gladstone to enlarge the scope of the inquiry to be made by the commons. Gladstone refused to do so. He contended that the commons would be wasted. He contended that the commons would be wasted. He contended that the commons would be wasted.

Gladstone said the papers would be presented at once. In regard to their policy, the government was less fettered now than they were six months ago, but they would hold out no prospect of giving way to the commons. He contended that the commons would be wasted. He contended that the commons would be wasted. He contended that the commons would be wasted.

Gladstone moved that the question of the imprisonment of Gray be referred to a select committee. Agreed to. No further business transacted during the day. The house adjourned.

Sir Wilfrid Lawson, Liberal, and a small clique of Radical members in the commons of commons, decided to-night that they would oppose the votes of thanks proposed by Gladstone for the commons and not of the Egyptian army.

Protestant Episcopal Congress. RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 25.—The congress met yesterday. A large number of visitors were present. The exercises opened with singing the hymn, "Come, gracious spirit, heavenly dove." Bishop Whipple next spoke a few words of cordial welcome to the members of the congress, and the memorial hymn was sung.

The Tariff Commission. WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The tariff commission will adjourn when congress meets, and will in the meantime meet in Washington or New York until its labors are finished.

EXTRAORDINARY FINANCING.

A Retired Archbishop Raises Money to Pay a Church Debt of a Million Dollars.

MONTREAL, Oct. 25.—Three years ago, when Archbishop Bourget retired from active oversight of the diocese of Montreal, he found an oppressive debt of nearly one million dollars resting upon his coadjutors. This liability accrued from building churches and other objects for promoting the spiritual welfare of the people. After a brief trip to Rome and rest on his return, his grace set to work vigorously to liquidate the immense liabilities. In little more than two years he has succeeded far beyond his expectations, and has just paid off the last dollar of the debt, with interest. The great triumph in the value of the real estate belonging to the church lately has given great assistance in discharging the obligation, but the chief support was from the liberal contributions of the faithful. The total sum was raised within the diocese. His grace has now engaged in building St. Peter's cathedral here, after the model church in Rome, at a cost of $1,000,000, of which $400,000 have been subscribed and laid out. The venerable arch prelate is sanguine enough to believe he will consecrate the grandest Christian church on the continent before he dies, although he is now more than an octogenarian.

OYE TEARS!

Shed by the Crowd at the Trial of the Kewanee Robbers.

A Plea of Guilty Entered by the Whole Gang and Sentence Deferred.

CAMBRIDGE, Ill., Oct. 25.—The trial of the Kewanee bank robbers began yesterday, Judge Glenn presiding. On being arraigned the prisoners, Scott, stated he was not yet ready to plead, and asked that his case be allowed to go over until the afternoon. This was granted, and Pratt, the cashier, Dunkle, and Welch, the traveling men, then pleaded guilty to the robbing of the bank, and a number of witnesses were then examined as to their previous good character. Detective William A. Mitchell, then testified as to the working up of the case by the Pinkerton agency and the arrest of the four prisoners and recovery of nearly $17,000 of the money stolen. Touching appeals were then made by Judge Mitchell, of Des Moines, for Dunkle, and C. K. Ladd, of Kewanee, for Pratt, and Meek and Hand for Welch, moving the masses which crowded the hall to burst into tears.

Judge Glenn decided that he would not sentence the prisoners until the case of Dr. Scott was tried. A consultation of counsel followed, when it was decided to allow Dr. Scott to plead guilty to the forgery of the $1,000 perpetrated on the bank a year ago by Scott, Welch and Cashier Pratt, and to also allow the evidence of his participation in the bank robbery to be shown. An able argument for mercy to Scott was made by Judge Durham, of Geneseo. The prosecution was ably conducted by District Attorney Mitchell, and Judge Wilson, of Kewanee. After hearing all the arguments, Judge Glenn decided not to pass sentence for several days, and to take time to think as to the punishment to inflict.

—There was a small audience at the opera house last night to hear the Rev. Mr. McLean, of Beloit, and the Rev. Dr. Corwin, of Racine, speak for the cause of prohibition. Your committee to whom was referred for investigation the cause or causes of the death of Louis Stark, at the county jail, September 28, 1892, beg leave to report: That from the best evidence obtainable, we are of the opinion that the cause of the death of Louis Stark was intemperance and exposure, which brought on congestion of the lungs.

We are also of the opinion that said Stark had the best medical care.

(Signed) O. P. ROBINSON, ED. MULDROCK, C. A. POTTER.
